REGISTRAR'S DIRECTIVE

(RD NO 1 of 2021)

INTRODUCTION OF ELECTRONIC BUSINESS REGISTRATION CERTIFICATES FOR CLOSE CORPORATIONS

The Business and Intellectual Property Authority was established to be the focal point for the registration of business and industrial property. In a bid to improve the level of efficiency of the services that BIPA provides, it's imperative that we continue to devise innovative ways of utilising technology to further enhance our effectiveness. It is important for our stakeholders to be kept abreast of new developments within the authority, therefore we wish to bring the following to your attention:

1. In line with the above, the newly incorporated Close Corporation (stemming from on-line applications) will only carry an electronic seal and an abridged entity profile (samples included). Subsequently there is no need to require the CC1 form for online processing.
2. Therefore, a certificate of incorporation (as per the sample included here), shall be valid for all purposes of businesses transactions; inclusive, but not limited to, the application for accounts at banking institutions. This certificate does not replace the existing founding statement, but rather acts as an electronic version of same.
3. This new on-line process, and requirement for supporting documents, are in addition to the submission channels we are already providing. However, the above directive is only applicable to applications lodged on-line.
4. The manual and online applications will continue until such a date as the Registrar directs. Entities will receive both types of CC1 certificates, until further notice.

5. The verification of existing entities can be done on the BIPA website at www.bipa.na by simply searching for the specific entity under “business name search” or alternatively, sending an email to info@bipa.na.

By order,

The Registrar of Business and Intellectual Property Rights

15 March 2021.
